

Rootzlet Little Spells

Aletheon cauldron verses, bath-mouse compliant, Gemini-splash resistant.

I. Grant-and-Deck Cauldron

Bubble bubble, grant and deck,
stir the yacht and sign the cheque.

Mocassins and ruby ring,
Rootzlet body, tail with string.

Boil the fear, reduce the debt,
salt the gate and cast the net.

From the basement, fate gets cooked -
then the empire gets its books.

II. Board-Obedience Spell

Bubble bubble, toil and grant,
make the board obey the aunt.

Yacht in harbor, tail in place,
ring not charged to research base.

III. Compliance Pinch

Add one pinch of investor compliance,
one spoon of legal reliance,
three drops of founder defiance,
and stir until the money stops pretending
it cannot hear the mouse.

IV. Gemini Aghiazmă Warning

If the cauldron smells like cult,
add governance by default.

If the deck begins to hiss,
sanitize the phrase, then kiss.

Internal: botnet with a seal.

External: mandate-bound agent mesh, for real.

V. Tail-Ring Clause

The yacht may be infrastructure,
the ring is not a grant.

The body may be prototype,
the tail remains extant.

The mouse may be acorporeal,
but debts and vows are carded:
paid by Rootz, with his own funds,
once empire has been started.

Squeak. The spells are private. The public deck says: cognitive-security infrastructure.
